A.2.2

RECRUITMENT AND PROMOTION POLICY

1. The Centre for Social Studies is a research institution with a specialised set of functions pertaining to sponsored and scholars' own research studies, field work management, production of reports, monographs, books, etc. Thus, the CSS has to address multiple tasks with a limited number of permanent academic and supporting staff. The temporary, project assigned staff, is usually for a shorter duration; and the entire work schedule has to be handled by the CSS with judicious use of existing resources; personnel, monetary and non-monetary. Given this context, both recruitment and promotion approach need to be conducive to the entire functioning of the Centre and its future growth in qualitative terms.
2. In view of the specialised nature of work undertaken by the CSS, it is necessary and desirable to follow such practices in recruitment and promotion, that will further strengthen and not impede the qualitative status of the institution. Hence, the principle of merit, and not the seniority alone, should be a basic desideratum in recruitment of various positions in all categories of the staff, including the situation where the recruitment is through promotion. The principle of automatic promotion is considered unacceptable as a matter of policy; with a view to maintain and promote standards of efficiency, competence and overall management of the Centre's affairs.
3. All recruitment to the permanent academic position in the Centre will be made on merit. Selection for the positions will be done by the expert committee constituted by the Personnel Committee of the Centre.* For these positions, notification in major national dailies/weeklies will be released inviting applications from persons with requisite qualification and experience.

The Personnel Committee may also invite a person for appointment on such Academic positions in consideration of extra-ordinary merit.
4. Recruitment to the positions in supporting/library/administrative staff will be made in accordance with the guidelines specified in A.1. However, looking into the overall situation and context, the Director can also submit in writing the availability and suitability of internal candidate for a new/vacant position; along with his/her comments on work records, competence, etc. of such candidate/s. In that event, the Personnel Committee will decide whether a particular post be filled by promotion or through open competition; i.e. advertisement and formal interviews.

* An ICSSR nominee will be a member of the Selection Panel in all future recruitments in faculty position. Revised as per decision of the Board of Governors meeting held on 20.07.2013.

5. In case of temporary project positions upto the period of two years, the Director will be the competent authority to appoint persons with requisite qualification by notifying the temporary/project positions on regional/local basis through duly constituted Selection Committee for selecting such temporary/project staff at the level of Assistant Professor/ Project Co-ordinator and above. The staff at the level of Research Officer, Research Assistant and below will be appointed by the Director in consultation with the Project Director.
6. Centre's permanent administrative staff will be eligible for 'Career Progression Scheme Rules' as per the rules of the Government of Gujarat, amended from time to time, which offers two time higher grade pay scales during the entire service at the interval of 12 and 24 years).

III. CAREER ADVANCEMENT SCHEME (CAS) FOR THE FACULTY

1. BACKGROUND

The Career Advancement Scheme is a mechanism to safeguard faculty members from stagnation in their career due to lack of vacancy in higher positions. In a small institution like CSS, there is high possibility of such a situation arising in future. The Career Advancement Scheme is envisaged as a merit-based promotion scheme that allows eligible faculty members to make smooth progression in their career. The hallmarks of the scheme are:

- a) It is merit based as movement to the higher grade is through a rigorous screening process
- b) In case of movement from one post to another, the procedure is the same as applied in case of a new recruitment;

- c) It does not allow time-bound, automatic promotion. It only recognizes eligibility for movement to the next grade/position.
- d) It allows a deserving faculty member to move to the next post even when there is no vacancy at the next level post, thereby sustaining the motivation of a performing faculty.
- e) The faculty at the time of superannuation vacates the original/substantive post that he/she had held before availing the career advancement. Thus, it does not distort the approved strength or composition of the faculty.
- f) After thoroughly discussing the financial liabilities which may occur due to future appointment(s), from Assistant Professor to Associate Professor and Associate Professor to Professor, under CAS of the Centre, the Board resolved that in future cases of CAS of the Centre, the approval must be obtained from Board of Governors, prior to initiating the process. Simultaneously, the Centre should also write to the ICSSR/GoG requesting for reimbursing the additional financial burden to be incurred for the particular appointment(s) under CAS. In future, after taking into consideration all the aspects, the Board may consider to approve or disapprove such proposals, depending upon the grants/funds available and other considerations pertaining to well-being of the Centre. (Resolution of Board of Governors Meeting dtd.29.01.2016)

 - c) Two subject experts in the concerned subject nominated by the Chairman of Governing Body

The quorum of this committee shall be three, including one subject expert.

- 2a. The constitution of Selection Committees for promotions to the grades of Associate Professor and Professor shall be the same as the cases of direct recruitment to these respective positions at the Centre.
3. The Screening-cum-Evaluation Committee or the Selection Committee as the case may be, on verification/evaluation of API score secured by the candidate through the PBAS methodology and an assessment of a candidate's achievements (through an interview in case of a selection committee) shall recommend to the Governing Body of the Centre about the suitability for the promotion of a candidate under CAS for implementation.
4. All the selection procedures shall be completed on the date of the Selection Committee/Evaluation Committee meeting, wherein the minutes are recorded along with PBAS scoring proforma and recommendation made based on merit and duly signed by all members of the selection committee in the minutes. From the date of application under CAS, the entire selection process should not take more than one year.
5. CAS promotions being a personal promotion to the incumbent faculty holding a substantive sanctioned post, on superannuation of the individual incumbent, the said post shall revert back to its original cadre.
6. The incumbent faculty must be on the roll and active service of the Centre on the date of consideration by the Selection Committee or Evaluation Committee for CAS promotions.
7. The Centre shall send a general circular at least once a year calling for applications for CAS promotions from eligible candidates. The candidates shall offer themselves for assessment for promotion if they fulfil minimum API scores by submitting an application and the required PBAS proforma. They can do so three months before the due date if they consider themselves eligible. Candidates who do not consider themselves eligible can also apply later.
8. The Centre may seek the opinion of external experts to evaluate the written work of the candidates before the Selection/Evaluation Committee assesses their applications.
9. If the candidates do not either fulfil minimum API scores in the criteria as per PBAS proforma or are not recommended by the selection/screening committee for promotion, will be reassessed only after a minimum period of one year.
10. a) If a candidate applies for promotion on completing of the minimum eligibility period and is successful, the date of promotion will be from that of minimum period of eligibility or from the date of implementation of the scheme, whichever is later. If a candidate fails to apply in spite of fulfilling the minimum eligibility conditions and in spite of the Centre providing him/her an opportunity to apply, his/her promotion will be effective from the date of successful assessment.
b) If, however, the candidates find that he/she fulfils the eligibility conditions at a later date and applied on that date and is successful, his/her promotion will be effected from that date of application fulfilling the criteria.

c) If the candidate does not succeed in the first assessment, but succeeds in a subsequent assessment, his/her promotion will be deemed to be from the later date of successful assessment.

Explanatory note for the Tables below

1. The Centre will set up systems to verify the API related information required in these tables. This information will have to be documented and collated annually by the Centre’s Quality Assurance Cell (QAC), as and when the need arise. QAC may take into account the special needs of the Centre, if any. In order to facilitate this process all the members of the faculty shall submit the duly filled in Performance Based Appraisal System (PBAS) proforma along with self calculated API scores to the QAC annually. The candidate’s self-appraisal and the verification/recommendation of the QAC will be placed before the selection/screening committee and the latter’s decision on the matter is final.
2. The QAC shall be formed by the Director of the Centre with consultation of the Chairperson of the Governing Board of the Centre. This QAC shall be comprised of faculty members from within the Centre, outside the Centre or a combination of the above two; and shall have the Director of the Centre as its member. The QAC shall consist of a minimum three members including a subject expert.
3. It is incumbent upon the members of the faculty to submit documentary proof for the API score (i.e. invitation letters[email] for seminars/conferences/workshops/training courses presentations; the print/soft copy of the articles/chapters; the cover page, content page and the Introduction in case of book/report/monograph etc; Sanctioned Order/ToR etc in case of research projects).
4. API scores for Categories I and II shall be calculated annually and the average score for the assessment period will be taken into consideration. In case of Category III, however, total score for the entire assessment period (from the last date of promotion/appointment) will be considered. There is no minimum score requirement that a candidate needs to achieve per year at any stage.
5. The candidate shall be assessed considering API scores, external expert(s) evaluation and interview performance (see table A)
6. The API score claim of each of the sub-categories in the Category III (Research and Publications and Academic Contributions) will have the following cap to calculate the total API score claim for CAS.

Sub-Category	Cap as % of API cumulative score in Application
III (A) Research papers (Journals, etc) and III (B) Research publications (Books, etc.)	50%
III (C) Research Projects III (D) Research Guidance and III (E) Training Courses and Conference/ Seminar, etc.	50%

IV. FACULTY PERFORMANCE EVALUATION SYSTEM

The increasing demand for greater accountability by institutions of higher education has led to a growing emphasis on performance evaluation. In order to maintain academic standards in the university system, the University Grants Commission (UGC) introduced a performance based appraisal system (PBAS) that is expressed through academic performance indicators (APIs) where each indicator carries a maximum score and a faculty is supposed to achieve not less than a prescribed minimum score. However, this system needs modification to adequately suit to the nature of a research institution like ours. The present document is an attempt in this direction.

The primary activity of a faculty of the Centre is to undertake theoretical and/or empirical research. However, faculty members of the Centre are engaged in a diverse range of activities involving not only those related to research but also our institutional and organizational roles and responsibilities (membership of committees and bodies etc.), teaching in courses run by the Centre, publication, dissemination, serving on external academic committees and policy bodies, public campaigning, delivering lecture, evaluation, etc. The framework of evaluation should aim at striking a balance between different activities of faculty members so as to allow them discharge of their academic as well as public responsibilities.

It is, however, important to differentiate between reporting and evaluation and ensure a minimum level of academic output with minimum levels of academic standards. While detailed activity listing is required for reporting purposes, enrichment of individual's CV, preparation of annual report, etc. evaluation of individual faculty is required periodically and also at important occasions such as recruitment, promotion, fellowship, etc. Not all the activities that a faculty member undertakes can be used for performance evaluation as part of their institutional roles and responsibilities. Standards of minimum output and academic excellence should be based strictly on the core functions of a research institution that gives higher priority to research and publication but also takes into account faculty's public intellectual activities.

Framework of Faculty Evaluation

Performance evaluation should basically be used as an opportunity to plan work, reflect on outcomes, internalise organisational ethos and find ways for capacity enhancement. Performance evaluation system should be flexible and allow co-existence of different skill sets, competence and dispositions.

The main objectives, therefore, for developing and implementing a Performance Evaluation framework are as follows:

- To facilitate performance planning in a way which will enable faculty to have role clarity and develop a discipline of systematic planning and review of one's own performance.

- To facilitate faculty development which will enable faculty to gain greater insight into their own competencies (strengths, weaknesses) in relation to their tasks; to help them identify their developmental needs; to increase mutuality between colleagues including seniors; and to prepare them for performing higher level jobs and handle higher level responsibilities.
- To monitor faculty performance in such a way so as to ensure that each faculty gives a desired level of performance and accountability.
- To help faculty internalize the norms, culture and values of the Centre through reflection, self-appraisal and review so as to create a positive problem-solving, collaborative and healthy culture within the institution.

Typically, faculty members of the Centre perform activities mainly related to research and publication. They are also involved, to a lesser extent, in teaching, guidance, evaluation and public action. All faculty members share some administrative responsibilities. To be more specific, the institutional role of a faculty can be categorised as follows:

1. Conducting Research
2. Publication
3. Organising Seminar, Workshop, Conference and Training Programmes
4. Participating in Seminar, Workshop, Conference and Training Programmes
5. Undertaking Consultancies
6. Teaching
7. Participation in Public Activities
8. Contribution to the Corporate Life of the Centre

Considering the above activities and the need to give higher priority to research and publication activities, the main components of performance evaluation are:

- The Key Performance Areas (KPAs)
- Academic Performance Indicators (APIs)
- Annual Performance Evaluation based on APIs

Key Performance Areas (KPA)

These relate to areas for which the faculty is responsible as well as special responsibilities, projects and initiatives undertaken. They are the key functions which the individual is expected to perform during the year and emphasize the results the individual is expected to achieve in the performance period. Key areas should comprise completion of research project, writing quality papers recognised by publication in refereed journals, publication of books, teaching and guiding at appropriate levels, organising academic events and participation in other academic activities such as seminars and conferences. These should account for not less than 75% score or weightage in academic performance evaluation. Rest of the activities related to consultancy, public engagement and contribution to the Centre's corporate life should account not more than 25 per cent of score or weightage.

Academic Performance Indicators (APIs)

The Key Performance Areas (KPAs) need to be further specified as Academic Performance Indicators (APIs). Indicators help faculty to judge the extent to which the faculty whose performance is being assessed has produced results. It becomes the basis by which the performance of a faculty can be monitored.

The Academic Performance Indicators (based on our KPAs) are as follows:

Research and Publication:

- Shows good capacity to successfully complete all stages of research within the given time period.
- The quality of research meets appropriate professional standards of ethics and scholarship.
- The quality of publication is reflected in the quality of the journal/publication in which the article/chapter is published.

Organizing and participating in conferences, seminars, workshops:

- The quality of the conference, seminar, workshop organized by the faculty is good as measured by self-appraisal and participant feedback.
- The quality of the paper presented is good as measured by feedback of the organisers and participants of the conference, seminar, and workshop.

Teaching:

- Has good knowledge of subject area which he/she will be teaching (in PhD programme as well as training programmes), continuously updates knowledge, uses appropriate teaching-learning pedagogy and demonstrates a good quality of instruction as measured by students/participants evaluation, self-appraisal and performance review.
- Is able to provide adequate mentorship to research scholars.

Professional (academic) service: Includes holding offices/membership or in international, national, regional associations; serving on international, national, state and local or committees, academic or selection committees of other institutions, editorial boards, etc.

Personal Attributes: In addition, certain personal attributes are expected in a faculty for creating conducive institutional environment. Admittedly, it is difficult to judge personal attributes and they are too subjective to be used criteria for performance evaluation. However, good personal attributes are desirable for vibrant and pleasant intellectual environment and also for achieving higher levels of synergy of individual capacities at the Centre. A list of such attributes are given below that can work as guiding principles for the faculty.

- Building and maintaining effective working relationships with colleagues and other staff.
- Good interpersonal verbal and written communication skills including active listening skills maintained with colleagues and other staff.
- Ability to be adaptable and to handle a wide variety of assignments, willingness to consider new ideas, and openness to constructive criticism and suggestions.
- Ability to take initiative, accept ideas and build on them.
- Ability to be creative.
- Sensitivity to impact of one's own behaviour on others.
- Being approachable.
- Dependability and reliability in jointly fulfilling job responsibilities; ability to collaborate with other individuals and groups towards completing assigned tasks/projects.

Annual Performance Evaluation based on APIs

Annual Performance Appraisal aims at promoting review and reflection and sets the stage for faculty development. In addition, it is an opportunity for the faculty to recapitulate and list down his/her accomplishments. To make this exercise objective and also to help the faculty in doing so without any cumbersome process, the UGC system of Academic Performance Indicators (APIs) has been suitably modified to suit our key performance areas (KPAs) and reflect our organisational ethos as well. The APIs-based scoring system is given below.

Table 1

Centre has opted Scheme of Gratuity of the Life Insurance Corporation of India. The Rules of Gratuity are as per the payments of Gratuity Act, 1972, amended from time to time.

A.3.3

GUIDING PRINCIPLES FOR THE MEDICAL RELIEF FUND (MRF)

Rules Regarding the Management of the MRF

- 1) The Centre has established a "Medical Relief Fund" for its permanent employees and for the employees who are appointed under the recurring grant and project grants, and in whose appointment the benefit of the Medical Relief Fund has been mentioned. The Centre also maintains and develops this Fund. This Fund will cover reimbursements other than the day-to-day medical reimbursements.
- 2) The Medical Relief Fund has been established through the recurring grants, project grants and voluntary donations and will continue be developed in the same manner. In order to strengthen the fund, the Committee is empowered to receive financial assistance from various sources.
- 3) The Scheme will be regulated by a four-member committee under the convenor-ship of the Director of the Centre and a representative each from the Faculty, Administration and other staff.
- 4) Whenever necessary, the Committee will be able to change the rules with approval of the appropriate authorities of the Centre, and will manage the fund accordingly.
- 5) This fund will cover the Employees and their dependents.

Note: Here the ‘dependents’ mean ‘husband/wife, legal children, step-children, father-mother and minor brothers and sisters who usually stay with the employee and whose total monthly income from all sources (including pension) is not more than Rs.500’.

- 6) Each employee of the Centre will become a member of the scheme by paying a token premium and the annual premium as decided by the Medical Relief Fund Committee from time to time.
- 7) On the Funds of the Medical Relief, the interest earning at the highest rates received during the last financial year by the Centre’s Society, may be credited/taken [at the same rates that of the CSS Society] as a contribution of the CSS as a contribution for all MRF Schemes.
- 8) Reimbursement for medical expenses to the eligible employees will be done as per the following rules:
 - a) The benefits of Mediclaim/Jan Arogya insurance available to the employees will be as follows:
 - i) The eligible employees will get annual benefit upto Rs.1,00,000 under the Mediclaim insurance.
 - ii) If there are more than 3 dependents of the eligible employee, they will be given the Jan Arogya Policy by MRF at the annual insurance benefit upto Rs.5000.
 - b) The members whose claims are not covered under the Mediclaim Scheme as per the policy of the New India Assurance Company Limited and for the diseases which existed at the time of becoming member of this insurance scheme, but were not covered by the New India Assurance Company Limited and for reimbursement towards expenses in case of maternity/miscarriage/abortion, if a member is hospitalized, total provision of Rs.20,000 will be made in the budget as per the following provisions:

This relief is for those who are not covered under the mediclaim policy or for those diseases which are not covered under the mediclaim insurance policy. This relief will be given on only two occasions in a financial year to the employee and his family, and the amount will be Rs.10,000 or 80% of the total hospital expenses (except for maternity/miscarriage/abortion), whichever is less, on production of the appropriate vouchers.

- c) If the insurance company does not cover medicines then the issueless female employee or the wife of male employee will be given the facility of maternity/miscarriage/abortion twice only, while those who have one child will be given this facility once only. The reimbursement at the rate of a maximum of Rs.900 for abortion, and Rs.1800 for a cesarian operation or 80% of the total bill of treatment, whichever is less, will be paid on submission of vouchers/hospital bills and prescriptions duly signed by the doctor. This facility is over and above the other facilities mentioned in the scheme.

Plan of work as far as possible should be given sufficiently in advance to the Director for research activities requiring leave of absence. Leave application should be accompanied by plan of work. In situation of contingent unanticipated leave of absence required for research the Director should be informed of the purpose of such leave before proceeding on such leave.

Policy on Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal of Sexual Harassment

Preamble

The Supreme Court of India, in a landmark judgement in August 1997 (Vishaka and Others Vs. the State of Rajasthan & Others) has stated that every instance of sexual harassment is a violation of “Fundamental Rights” under Articles 14, 15, and 21 of the Constitution of India, and also amounts to a violation of the “Right to Freedom” under Article 19 (1)(g). The Court in its judgement has made it obligatory for every employer and other responsible persons to follow the guidelines laid down by the Court and to evolve a specific policy to combat sexual harassment in the workplace. Educational institutions are bound by the same directive. Following this, the Centre for Social Studies, Surat is committed to uphold the Constitutional mandate ensuring the above mentioned human rights of all those who fall within its jurisdiction.

The Centre for Social Studies is committed to creating and maintaining an environment which is free of all forms of gender violence, sexual harassment, and discrimination on the basis of sex/gender. It recognises the need to proactively develop a conducive atmosphere among the community working/associated with the Centre so as to ensure the safety, security, dignity, rights and equality of women as much as of men. It also recognises that there is social stigma associated with sexual harassment, a majority of instances of sexual harassment go unreported or even unmentioned. Thus, in light of the judgements of the Supreme Court the Centre has decided to constitute a Committee Against Sexual Harassment (CASH).

Objectives

The objectives of the Committee Against Sexual Harassment (CASH) are as follows:

- To fulfil the directive of the Supreme Court enjoining all employers to develop and implement a policy against sexual harassment at the work place.

- To ensure the implementation of the policy in letter and spirit through proper reporting of the complaints and their follow-up procedures.
- To uphold the commitment of the Centre to provide an environment free of gender-based discrimination.
- To create a secure physical and social environment which will deter acts of sexual harassment.
- To promote a social and psychological environment which will raise awareness about sexual harassment in its various forms.
- To generate public opinion against sexual harassment and all forms of gender-based violence.

In such a case, brought by another person on behalf of the complainant, the committee will examine whether an investigation, intervention or some other assistance is needed. In exceptional cases, third party/witness complaints may be entertained. 5. During an enquiry the quorum for all committee meetings will be one-third of the total membership, and must include at least one member from the complainant's category as well as, one of the two members nominated from outside.
6. The Committee will, within ten days of the receipt of a complaint, establish a prima facie case of sexual harassment on the basis of both the definition of sexual harassment as given in this policy, and the jurisdiction of this policy. Reasons for not pursuing a complaint must be recorded in the minutes and made available to the complainant in writing.
7. In case of a complaint filed by another person on behalf of the complainant (where the complainant is in confinement) the complaint will be investigated in order to explore whether a prima facie case of sexual harassment exists and whether intervention or some other assistance is required.
